

Stay Open

Maya Hawke

Close the door behind me
Lock up when I leave
Nurse my pride, throw in a please
But I'll do anything you ask

Things will change, they always do
But my heart will stay open
For you

Sorry that I lost your key
I'm not accustomed to security
There's nothing you could promise me
That would let me catch my breath

Things will change, they always do
But my heart will stay open
For you

This cold wind comes quickly
Through an open door
And every blow lands heavy
When you want more
But, baby, I am ready
Whatever's in store

Stumble over your fine line
Falling further every time
Speak the words, it's in your eyes
That I don't wanna guess

Things will change, they always do
But my heart will stay open
For you

I'm not sure we get to choose
Love can make a child of you
But when I try and tell the truth
Out comes your little name

Things will change, they always do
But my heart will stay open
For you

My heart will stay open for you
My heart will stay open for you
