

Wait

Was it me you meant to send to?

Conversation left on read I called you up

Not a word at all, pretty typical

Hey

Just say my suspicions ain't true

I'd ignore it 'cause I love you a bit too much

To leave in such a rush

And I know, and I know, and I know, that you're a ghost, ghost

Won't pick up your phone, phone

And I know, and I know, and I know, you're not alone, lone

All I hear is dial tone

And I know, and I know, and I know, that you're a

Stay

So I know there's no one else who

You stay tangled in the sheets lay underneath that you been seen with

Taste between the teeth with

Say

Say that you'll be coming home soon

There's no one else you wake up next to

Please don't let me go

And I know, and I know, and I know, that you're a ghost, ghost

You won't pick up your phone, phone

And I know, and I know, and I know, you're not alone, lone

All I hear is dial tone

And I know, and I know, and I know, that you're a

Take your time, find your lines

Your heart is mine, I'll live your lie

'Cause I don't mind

Slipping through walls, and through my hands

Ignoring it all like I don't understand

Take your time, find your lines

Your heart is mine, I'll live your lie

'Cause I don't mind

Slipping through walls

And I know, and I know, and I know, that you're a ghost, ghost

You won't pick up your phone, phone

And I know, and I know, and I know, you're not alone, lone

All I hear is dial tone

And I know, and I know, and I know, that you're a