

Fight the power and the power will fight back
You're only as good as the system you hack
If you become a problem you will be replaced
Banned, shut down, erased

The world has capsized, gone erratic
Constitutional rights have dissolved into static
The truth is based on misinformation
Reality is only a hallucination

The revolution will be synthesized
The revolution will be synthesized

Another decade gone terribly wrong
Effectively affecting generations to come
We only buy into what we can sell
And we only want to protect you from yourself

While you fall on your face for the media-hype
We've busy creating a new stereotype
Amending the story to keep it intact
And make sure our vision accomodates fact

Do you know who owns and controls the station you're watching?
Does it matter?

Does it matter?
The revolution will be synthesized
The revolution will be synthesized

Corporate wars vs. plastic celebrity
Competing for headlines with pills for virility
Alterior motives in a shroud of secrecy
The holy grail is market supremacy
Killing-machines for destruction and mayhem
Can we pity the victims if we don't even know them?
If anything goes wrong we blame the middleman
Cause we're not gonna stray from the agenda at hand

Do you know who owns and controls the station you're watching?
Does it matter?

The revolution will be synthesized
The revolution will be synthesized