

Lost Love

Meat Loaf

I hear you crying out in the night
I hear your love is a broken part
He's the boy that'd last forever
Oh, from the very start

It's the hardest thing to get over
It'll take you under so fast
And all alone in the middle of the night
You feel like nothing, and promises just don't last

Looking for love that won't be broken
Looking for words that just weren't spoken
Here is my heart, holding your faith
It'll get out right just a little too late

Lost love, you need someone tonight
To fill this emptiness
Lost love, you need someone tonight
To hold you with tenderness

Don't keep your dreams deep in the dark
Don't let the tears tear you apart
Open your heart—love will find you tonight

I know tonight you lay awake
And listen to every breath that you take
And in your sleep, in your dreams you'll find
Tortures of the heart and crimes of the mind

It's the hardest thing to get over
It'll take you under so fast
All alone in the middle of the night
You feel like nothing, and promises just don't last

Looking for love that won't be broken
Looking for words that just weren't spoken
Give me one chance to make it all right
Give me one chance, one chance tonight

Don't keep your dreams deep in the dark
Don't let the tears tear you apart
Open your heart—love will find you tonight...

Looking for love that won't be broken
Looking for words that just weren't spoken
Give me one chance to make it all right
Give me one chance, one chance tonight

Lost love, you need someone tonight
To fill this emptiness
Lost love, you need someone tonight
To hold you with tenderness

Don't keep your dreams deep in the dark
Don't let the tears tear you apart
Open your heart—love will find you tonight...
