Mechina

Exiled just above the highest clouds
Endlessly searching for any sound
As decades pass, we devour the outer rings
Our lifeline dependent on in-situ utility

Orphans bound by the frozen sea
We sail upon the shadows of this cruel dream
The world below, awaiting the human seed
In silence we sleep, oh titan hear our plea

We only dream within the absence of sleep
Regaling tales of human cruelty

The day we relink with our god machine

We shall become planet bound

In the end, I must amend
I beg of you, bury my flesh
Beneath the soil of the world below
This is not my home

We shall become planet bound

The elusive search for life
Hidden in the blackness of night

Enduring the cruelty of time

Every moment consumed by loss
This human slate grasping for faith
Hope itself destined to be lost
We kneel before those bound by frost`

We only dream within the absence of sleep
Regaling tales of human cruelty

The day we relink with our god machine

We shall become planet bound

In the end, I must amend
I beg of you, bury my flesh
Beneath the soil of the world below
This is not my home

We shall become planet bound

We only dream within the absence of sleep
Regaling tales of human cruelty

The day we relink with our god machine

We shall become planet bound

In the end, I must amend
I beg of you, bury my flesh

Beneath the soil of the world below
This is not my home

We shall become planet bound
