

Love At A Distance

Meet Me @ The Altar

I must have misunderstood when you told me you didn't want any tension
I was walking on the fire you were burning just so I could get your attention
Did I mention
You have the prettiest face I've ever seen I'm doing everything to get you close to me I should've told you this sooner before she Took you away

I know you better than you know yourself Can't believe you didn't notice but I'm always looking out for you
I tried to love you when I didn't know how
But now I know
I've kept these feelings in for so damn long
I could show you that I'm worth it but you've never given me a chance
Not being with you's never felt so wrong
But for now I'll have to love you from a distance

Do you ever look at me in the way that I look at you when you'r e excited?
Am I ever the last thought that you think right before you lay down and go to bed?
Am I wasting
All the time that I could use to write theses words?
Knowing that you'll never be mine Damn it hurts
There's way too many tears that have stained all of my shirts
I've gotta say

I know you better than you know yourself
Can't believe you didn't notice but I'm always looking out for
you
I tried to love you when I didn't know how
But now I know
I've kept these feelings in for so damn long
I could show you that I'm worth it but you've never given me a
chance
Not being with you's never felt so wrong
But for now I'll have to love you from a distance

I know you better than you know yourself
Can't believe you didn't notice but I'm always looking out for
you
I tried to love you when I didn't know how
But now I know

I've kept these feelings in for so damn long
I could show you that I'm worth it but you've never given me a
chance
Not being with you's never felt so wrong
But for now I'll have to love you from a distance