

Table for Two

Megan Moroney

This missing you's getting dangerous
Can't trust myself when I'm thinking 'bout us
Broken-hearted me is a liability
Deleted your number, I know it by heart
It's counterproductive, at least it's a start
If I called you up, would you call me crazy?

I know I shouldn't, but I wanna
So, I might and if I do
Is now a bad time to let you know
I kind of still love you?
I've got nothing to do and nothing to lose
Why be alone when we don't have to?
Let's get a table for two
Ooh, ooh

Who am I kidding?
You'd beat me there
I know what you'd say, and you know what I'd wear
And I'd wake up in your arms again
And maybe we'd finally get it right
Over switch-on candles and Prisoner wine
And we can pretend it's coincidence

I know I shouldn't, but I wanna
So, I might and if I do
Is now a bad time to let you know
I kind of still love you?
I've got nothing to do and nothing to lose
Why be alone when we don't have to?
Let's get a table for two
Ooh, ooh

Picture this, me and you
Tipsy kissing, same side of the booth
No regrets, just the truth
Like we're the only ones in this room
At a table for two
Till 2 a.m.
The water is fine, let's jump back in
At a table for two
Ooh, ooh

I know I shouldn't, but I wanna
So, I might and if I do
Is now a bad time to let you know
I kind of still love you?
I've got nothing to do and nothing to lose
Why be alone when we don't have to?
Let's get a table for two
Ooh, ooh

Is now a bad time to let you know
I kind of still love you?
At a table for two
