

You Can Find Anything Here

Melanie

You can find your pockets in someone else's pants
You can find McDonald's in Paris France
You can find the lost key where you looked before
You can find anything here

You can find anything, oh anything
You can find anything here
You can find anything, oh anything
You can find anything here

You can find the wallet that you lost last week
You can find that diet makes you want to eat
You can find your lover or your long lost friend
You can find anything here

You can find anything, oh anything
You can find anything here
You can find anything, oh anything
You can find anything here

You can find your heart, you could lose your mind
You could love forever one day at a time
Between the punches pulled and the fine lines
You can find anything here

You can find anything
You can find anything here
You can find anything
You can find anything here...

You can find your going north when you need to go south
You can find your big foot in your little mouth
You can find directions on the bathroom door
You can even find yourself, what about that?

You can find your going east
When you should' a gone west
You can find your momma ready does know best...
