

Last Hello

Melissa Etheridge

In the morning light I feel my heart
Cold like wet cement, it falls apart
I can't believe it so
That was our last hello
How was I to know?

This day will end, and oh, I miss you
I will rise again, and oh, I miss you
I'll find the strength within
To shout, "Never again"
Wish I could see my friend
Oh, I miss you
Oh, I miss you

If you could see this moment
See how the world was waking
It's more than just a moment
See how the world is changing
To comprehend is slow
That was our last hello
How was I to know?

This day will end, and oh, I miss you
I will rise again, and oh, I miss you
I'll find the strength within
To shout, "Never again"
Wish I could see my friend
Oh, I miss you

What started first as confusion
Is turning into revolution
What can I do? What can I be?
No child should see what I have seen
How was I to know
That was our last hello?

This day will end, and oh, I miss you
I will rise again, and oh, I miss you
I'll find the strength within
To shout, "Never again"
Wish I could see my friend
Oh, I miss you
Oh, I miss you

(Oh, oh, oh, oh, oh)
(Oh, oh, oh, oh, oh)
(Oh, oh, oh, oh, oh)
(Oh, oh, oh, oh, oh)
(Oh, oh, oh, oh, oh)