

Beginnings

Memento

What have you done?
Yes I'm talking to you
Your only son
The one you dressed in nails

But I know how hard it is for you to show, show your love
And for your love I take the nails and thorns
But that will never be enough
So still I beg and crawl for your goddamned love

I've just begun
To understand your ways
You need blood
So no one goes away

Yes I know how hard it is for you to show, show your love
And for your love I take the nails and thorns
But that will never be enough
So still I beg and crawl for your goddamned love

Turn the other cheek again, will I?
Turn the other cheek again, will I?
Turn the other cheek again
Maybe let me in this time, oh, oh yea

Where, where, where, where are you?
I said, "Where, where, where, where are you?"
I said, "Where, where, where, where are you?"

Yes I know how hard it is for you to show, show your love
And for your love I take the nails and thorns
But that will never be enough
Still I beg and crawl for father and son
I'm your son, for father and son
For your goddamned love, oh Lord
Show your love
Show your love
