Involved

Mesh

You took a chance if you thought they'd let you forget the pain
You should have known from the moment you stole from the net again
I'd give you a line
I'd give you my undivided time
Not for the cure
Cause that takes so much more

So I want to see you try to shake this one off
I want to see you running out of control
Selling your soul
To carry this one off
I want to hear you reading up on your vows
Wondering how you got involved

It's only fair
You said you'd never be there
But now your starting to sweat
Tiny beads of regret
And all for the sake
Of what little you take
Of what little you take

Don't you pick up the phone
Cause they know that your at home
And the shadows are long
When your drinking alone

I want to see you running out of control
Selling your soul
To carry this one off
I want to hear you reading up on your vows
Wondering how you got involved
