

Involved

Mesh

You took a chance if you thought they'd let you forget the pain

You should have known from the moment you stole from the net again

I'd give you a line

I'd give you my undivided time

Not for the cure

Cause that takes so much more

So I want to see you try to shake this one off

I want to see you running out of control

Selling your soul

To carry this one off

I want to hear you reading up on your vows

Wondering how you got involved

It's only fair

You said you'd never be there

But now your starting to sweat

Tiny beads of regret

And all for the sake

Of what little you take

Of what little you take

Don't you pick up the phone

Cause they know that your at home

And the shadows are long

When your drinking alone

I want to see you running out of control

Selling your soul

To carry this one off

I want to hear you reading up on your vows

Wondering how you got involved
