

Torture

Micatone

Baby

You got me up all night in bed thinking
About our love, the nights you've been with me
And how I wished that I could reach you through them

Across the globe, you're far away
But your heart stays here with me baby
If I could turn back the hands of time, I would
Freeze the clocks and start all over
I would love you all the way just like I should
Every minute without you it feels like torture
Every minute without you it feels like torture
Every minute without you it feels like torture
Every minute without you it feels like torture
Every minute without you it feels like torture

Baby

I just really need your loving
'Cause I get lost trying to search for something
I hear you calling so I come running
I'm always running back for your heart, baby

Across the globe, you're far away
But your heart stays here with me baby
If I could turn back the hands of time, I would
Freeze the clocks and start all over
I would love you all the way just like I should
Every minute without you it feels like torture
Every minute without you it feels like torture
Every minute without you it feels like torture
Every minute without you it feels like torture
Every minute without you it feels like torture
