Possibilities

Michael Hutchence

It's so strange How my life's changed I know nothing About the people that I touched Heard a story It sounded easy If you don't care Then you're lying through your teeth I was shook up Intoxicated Drank the juices Of the possibilities I'm so alive If you told me Nothing's perfect Hearts are broken Nothing's free I could show you Why it's worth it That's the way that it's meant to be It's too strange How your life's changed You know nothing About the people that you've touched Someone told me Life is easy Hearts were bleeding and breaking They were lying through their teeth If you told me Nothing's perfect Hearts are broken Nothing's free I will show you Why it's worth it And that's the way that it's meant to be If you told me Nothing's perfect Hearts are broken Nothing's free I could show you Why it's worth it That's the way that it's meant to be Heard a story It sounded easy Got a new skin and

I'm lying through my teeth I was shook up Intoxicated I drank the juices of the possibilities

Of the possibilities