Troubled For You

Michael Johnson

I've troubled for you from time to time
That's why nothing new can break the bind
It's the time you waste for them
That makes a friend a friend
Unique in all the world until the end

We've traveled for years through mindless miles
And shared us some tears through aimless trials
And though you're old and worn
You're the only home I've known
Through memories stretched beyond so many dawns

I've troubled for you from time to time
That's why nothing new can break the bind
It's the time you waste for them
That makes a friend a friend
Unique in all the world until the end

I find it hard to believe that time brings change
Now all of my friends are broken with age
But what's essential you cannot see
I'm responsible for my friends and they for me

I've troubled for you from time to time
That's why nothing new can break the bind
It's the time you waste for them
That makes a friend a friend
Unique in all the world until the end
