

Captain Solitaire

Michael Malarkey

Am too calm, got burned out racing
Now the motionless boots on the ceiling now
You watch it all from upside down
Now begging I'll steal it, captain Solitaire
You stay it's believing, birds' nests in your hair
The only heart you're healing, healing, healing is your own
The only heart you're healing, healing, healing is your own

Hang in there, blood keeps rushing
To your head, and your eyes are kaleidoscopes
You watch it all with sunset eyes
But you're getting delirious, captain Solitaire
Because you're the dealer dealing aces to yourself
Because you're the dealer dealing aces to yourself

And you say hit me again
Hit me again, hit me again
And you say hit me again
The only heart you're healing, healing, healing is your own
The only heart you're healing, healing, healing is your own

And you say hit me again
(You better hit me again, you better)
Hit me again
(You better hit me again)
Hit me again
(You better hit me again, you better)
And you say hit me again
(You better hit me again)
Hit me again
(You better hit me again, you better)
Hit me again
(You better hit me again)
Hit me again
(You better hit me again, you better)
And you say hit me again
(You better hit me again)