

Love Is Thicker Than Blood

Michael Monroe

Wild child, bored and sad
Daddy's little angel grew up bad
Jailbait stays out late So in love with the guy they hate
They say - you gotta forget It's Romeo and Juliette
You can't keep a good love down
You'll run away when they turn around
Standing in the doorway
With the letter in their hand
They think blood is thicker than water
But they just don't understand

Love is thicker than blood
Love is thicker than blood
Love is thicker than blood

When the cards lay on the table
We all know that love is thicker than blood
Can't wait, gotta escape Life's too short to hesitate Dad said - If you don't fly straight It's gonna be your last mis take! Cried, cried, it left a stain
Now you'll never go home again Black sheep, what've you done? Your lovin' life put you on the run Now you love the darkness
More than midnight loves the moon
They think blood is thicker than water
But you'll burst that bubble soon
