

Crashing Waves

Michael W. Smith

My heart is beating loud, in perfect rhythm
There's beauty all around, that once was hidden!
Waves crash all around me!
Broken is how You found me
I'm heavy like a stone, don't want to be alone now
The past is all I see, fading memories!

Somebody hid the sun, in the midnight of suffering
My tears are falling down, and crashing like waves
Somebody stole the day, and took Your light from me
I'll never be the same, roll this stone away

My heart is beating fast, loud and clearer
The promises at last, are coming nearer!
Waves crash all around me! Oh-oooh!
Broken is how You found me!
I'm heavy like a stone, don't want to be alone now
Will this pain ever be, a fading memory?!

Somebody hid the sun, in the midnight of suffering
My tears are falling down, and crashing like waves
Somebody stole the day, and took Your light from me
I'll never be the same, roll this stone away

You roll the stone away!
You roll the stone away-ay-'y-ay
Oh-oooh! Oh-ooooh!

Somebody hears the Son, in the midnight of suffering
My tears are falling down, and crashing like waves
Somebody stole the pain, a thief in the night came
I'll never be the same, You rolled this stone away
Ooh, I'll never be the same, You rolled this stone away

My heart is beating loud, in perfect rhythm