Michele Morrone

If you knew my hand, you wouldn't say I'm wrong
If you know my past, you wouldn't flee
You think I'm lying

I've tried so many times to feel big empty space
Turn around I see only my empty glass
You think I'm lying

Look inside these eyes, there's someone else
Maybe I should've know I won't be blessed
I'll go away from this mess, this mess

If you know my heart you wouldn't love me back
If you had my back you wouldn't leave
I think you're lying

Look into my eyes and say it is a game
Try to imagine that it's always me
Is this a game?

Everybody know about my feelings
Anyway, I know I'm gonna leave
There's nothing left

If you want, come with me
Let's forget the shape we've been
Or I'll be alone with myself

There's enough space for you
I'm telling you what's the truth
Or I'll be alone with myself

Everybody know about my feelings
Anyway, I know I'm gonna leave

If you want, come with me
Let's forget the shape we've been
Or I'll be alone with myself

There's enough space for you
I'm telling you what's the truth
Or I'll be alone with myself

There's enough space for you
There's enough space for you

I'm fucking alone
I'm fucking alone
