

The Wish We Made

Michelle Chamuel

Once, we wished on a falling star,
I didn't know who I was or what you really are.
Then we became more than the stories say -
It feels like I'm flying and it's never gonna fade.

When the feeling's gone and you're too far away,
You can look above and know that we're ok,
'Cause the falling star will always have the wish we made.
When your heart shuts down and you don't know my face,
And you've lost that love that once lit up your day,
Well, the falling star will always have the wish we made.

Once, I almost fell apart,
Didn't know who I was or where to find my heart.
Then we became enrobed in a shining light,
I grabbed your hand and never dared to look behind.

When the feeling's gone and you're too far away,
You can look above and know that we're ok,
'Cause the falling star will always have the wish we made.
When your heart shuts down and you don't know my face,
And you've lost that love that once lit up your day,
Well, the falling star will always have the wish we made.

When the feeling's gone and you're too far away,
You can look above and know that we're ok,
'Cause the falling star will always have the wish we made.
When your heart shuts down and you don't know my face,
And you've lost that love that once lit up your day,
Well, the falling star will always have the wish we made.
