

Waiting for You

Michelle Chamuel

All around there's open air stretching miles and miles ahead
But when I look down I see only you
Can you feel my hands beside your head, do you know that I'm still here
In this beyond-ness: from beyond the sunrise

I'll be waiting for you

Calling out you say my name, though you think that I can't hear
But when I look down, my eyes follow you
When you close your eyes to get some rest, do you know that I'm still here in this beyond-ness: from beyond the sunrise

I'll be waiting for you