

Forty-eight hours felt like a lifetime
I know it's dumb, but its true
You said you needed some alone time
I said "do what you gotta do"

I was gonna write so many songs about you
I was gonna write so many songs for you

You were the lighthouse on the shoreline
You became a glimmer of hope
I wanna think that things change with time
But honestly, I just don't know

I was gonna write so many songs about you
I was gonna write so many songs for you
I was gonna write so many songs about you
Guess this one will just have to do
