

I fell down the rabbit's hole into the lion's den
I can't remember my own name
I think that I would make a fine politician
'Cause I'm the one you always blame

I hit my head upon the door that you left open
When you asked me to step inside
Is this your weird little way of letting me know that
I'm the one who's on your mind?
Tell me, am I the one who's on your mind?

If love is a river baby you can't swim
You're going under
You're going under
If love is a game you're playing, you won't win
You're going under
You're going under

You put your face against the glass cause you're on camera
Well they see everything you see
And if they tell you that they are not listening
Well they are poisoning your dreams, oh

If love is a river baby you can't swim
You're going under
You're going under
If love is a game you're playing, you won't win
You're going under
You're going under

'Cause every time I look at the stars
I always wonder where you are
I always wonder where you are
'Cause honey when I look in your eyes
You make everything alright
Just tell me it'll be alright

If love is a river baby you can't swim
You're going under
You're going under
If love is a game you're playing, you won't win
You're going under
You're going under

If love is a river baby you can't swim
You're going under
You're going under
If love is a game you're playing, you won't win
You're going under
You're going under

You're going under
Oh, oh