

Important

Michigander

I got a feeling that you're too important
With looks like that, I probably can't afford it
A sinking ship with a mini bar
Or a hurricane on a house of cards
I see the cracks, and I can't ignore it

If I could swim a thousand miles
You'd probably ask for more

Tell me what's on your mind
With your head up in the clouds
Why am I wasting my time
When I know you'll let me down?
It's all wrong
It's not right
You're not mine in any way
You tell me what's on your mind
But I think I figured it out

I get lost when I'm in your orbit
Can't get close to a heart that's haunted
Astronauts and satellites
Asking for a sign of my life
I'll write your song, but I won't record it

If I could chase a million stars
But never see the light

Tell me what's on your mind
With your head up in the clouds
Why am I wasting my time
When I know you'll let me down?
It's all wrong
It's not right
You're not mine in any way
You tell me what's on your mind
I think I figured it out
Figured it out
Figured it out
Figured it out

I think I figured it out
