

In My Head

Michigander

I picked a random number
They said it won't be long
But I never have to know the words
Before I start to sing along

I got a new tradition
I hid it in a song
Now I never have to know I'm right
Before I admit I'm wrong

I close my eyes when I try to see
I bite my tongue when I wanna be heard
I try so hard to fight the feeling
That's all in my head
That's all in my head
It's all in my

It's the eleventh hour
I never need my alarm
Now all I do is announce myself
I am calm, I am the storm
I am calm, I am the storm

I close my eyes when I try to see
I bite my tongue when I wanna be heard
I try so hard to fight the feeling
That's all in my head
That's all in my head
It's all in my

I think I've told this joke before
Yeah, it didn't land then so I'll try it some more
I've turned down all these roads before
But they come back around, "Here's a little bit more"

I close my eyes when I try to see
I bite my tongue

I close my eyes when I try to see
I bite my tongue when I wanna be heard
I try so hard to fight the feeling
That's all in my head

I close my eyes when I try to see
I bite my tongue when I wanna be heard
I try so hard to fight the feeling
That's all in my head
That's all in my head
That's all in my head
