

Letterman

Michigander

I used to write love songs before I really knew what love was
I always got it wrong until I found you
I never realized what I'd write wasn't all wrong
I wouldn't call it lies, but it wasn't all true

Well, things always change
Don't have to fight it, you just might like it
Things always change
I don't mind it, I kind of like it

I used to stay up late just to see what bands would play when I turned on CBS to David Letterman
But Dave moved out of state, somewhere out in Montana
I hope he's doing great, I hope he's staying thin

Well, things always change
Don't have to fight it, you just might like it
Things always change
I don't mind it, I kind of like it

I'm starting to feel a little older
I'm starting to feel worn out
No reason for me to be bitter
No reason for me to stay down

Life is so unknown, you never know which way the wind blows
I love my mom and dad, but I'm sad they're getting old

Well, things always change
Don't have to fight it, you just might like it
Things always change
I don't mind it, I kind of like it

Things always change
Don't have to fight it, you just might like it
Things always change
I don't mind it, I kind of like it

Oh, don't be afraid
Don't have to fight it, you just might like it
