Come the Day

Midge Ure

I feel the shadows on me now
With so much more to say
I see the strange arrival
From a thousand miles away
If I stopped right where I stand
And believed the lines in my hand
I would open up my fist
And take the things I'd missed

Come the day
I will be there when the hammer starts to fall
Come the day
I will be there with my reasons for it all
Struck by sound across my face
Loud enough that I can taste
Knock the choices from my head
Hear the voices which just said
Come the day, oh

I weave around the dangers
The finest threads unwind
This net between my fingers
Covers all I've left behind
If I stopped right where I stand
And believed the lines on my hand
I would open up my heart
And take the hardest part

Come the day
I will be there when the hammer starts to fall
Come the day
I will be there with my reasons for it all
Struck by sound across my face
Loud enough that I can taste
Knoch the choices from my head
Hear the voices which just said
Come the day, oh

When the hammer starts to fall
I will be there when you call

Come the day
I will be there when the hammer starts to fall
Come the day
I will be there with my reasons for it all
Struch by sound across my face
Loud enough that I can taste
Knock the choices from my head
Hear the voices which just said
Come the day, oh

I feel the shadows on me now
With so much more to say
I see the strange arrival
From a thousand miles away
If I stopped right where I stand
And believed the lines on my hand

I would open up my fist
And take the things I'd missed

Come the day
I will be there when the hammer starts to fall
Come the day
I will be there with my reason for it all
Struck by sound across my face
Loud enough tat I can taste
Knock the choices from my head
Hear the voices which just said
Come the day, oh

Come the day
I will be there when the hammer starts to fall
Come the day
I will be there with my reasons for it all
Struck by sound across ma face
Loud enough that I can taste
Knock the choices from my head
Hear the voices which just said
Come the day, oh

Come the day

Come the day

Struck by sound across my face
Loud enough that I can taste
Knock the choices from my head
Hear the voices which just said
