

grandpas interlude

midwxst

Alrighty, go ahead
They told me it—man, who was desperate, in his search for true love
But while on his quest
He was encountered by the question of "What is love?"
Is it truly a cause of happiness or the weakness to mankind?
And the cause of pain beyond measure Do you have any feelin'? Or an excuse for you to finally—The void, that you have constantly tried to fill for your whole life
All questions neither of us have the answer to So, before we, uh—you told me 'bout the E3
Understand that you and him are just the same, blind by love
And what's in front of you, and so, his story begins