

Something Good

Mike Posner

This will all be better soon
The sun will turn into the moon
Then the moon will disappear
And the sun will dry up all your tears
Hold your head up, don't you cry
Daddy's here, right by your side
The moon is like a summer breeze
First it's here, and then it leaves

But it all
Turns
To something good
Something right
Something good
Something right
Someone's thinking about you
Praying for you
Every day and every night

A mother's touch is soft as cake
Everybody makes mistakes
And everything comes with a cost
Don't think other people's thoughts
Someone loves you, no surprise
Goodness gracious, you're alive
And life is like a robin's song
First it's here, and then it's gone

But it all
To something good
Something right
Something good
Something right
Someone's thinking about you
Praying for you
Every day and every night
Something good
Something right
Someone's thinking about you
Praying for you
Every day and every night
