

Fighting For

Mikey Wax

My hands across my eyes
Give it up for the girl in white
All I needed was a little time

My heart begins to race
Give her love, give her style, give her grace
All I needed was a little faith

Sometimes you need to fall
To know what you're fighting for
I've built my heart, don't tear it apart

My hands cover the moon
Give me warmth like the month of June
All I needed was a little room

Try to make the stars align
But they don't work by your design
All I need is a little sign
And sometimes you need to fall
To know what you're fighting for
I built my heart, don't tear it apart
Sometimes you need to stall
Before you give it all
I've built my heart, don't tear it apart

Flowers in her hair
And raindrops everywhere I turn, everything I've learned
Is now up in the air
With wine glasses everywhere I turn
The past is being burned

Sometimes you need to fall
To know what you're fighting for
I've built my heart
don't tear it apart
Sometimes you need to stall
before you give it all
I've built my heart
Don't tear it apart
