

Every Girl You've Ever Loved

Miley Cyrus

I match my bag to my new dress
I'm still looking like a ten
While my hair is a mess
And I'm gonna work it all night
'Til I get what I want
Yes, yes, yes

No. I can't believe that you're still holding out on me like a dog in the street

Aren't I pretty enough for more
Than fun in the dark?
Are you still holding on to your heart?
Looking for the one
But one is never enough
I'm every girl you've ever loved
I'm a little bit angel, I'm a little bit not
Are you still holding on to your heart?
Come get under the one
That you've been dreaming of
I'm every girl you've ever loved

Pose
She has the perfect scent
Don't you want me, baby?
Pose
She speaks the perfect French
Don't you want me, baby?

I turn you on and set your heart on fire
I give you every single color that there is
In a flame that's burning with desire

I'm picking up your clothes off
All my bathroom tiles
I can hold you like a man
And let you cry like a child
Follow you like a shadow

No. I can't believe that you're still holding out on me like a dog in the street

Aren't I pretty enough for more
Than fun in the dark?
Are you still holding on to your heart?
Looking for the one
But one is never enough
I'm every girl you've ever loved
I'm a little bit angel, I'm a little bit not
Are you still holding on to your heart?
Come get under the one
That you've been dreaming of
I'm every girl you've ever loved

Pose
She has the perfect scent
Don't you want me, baby?

Pose
She speaks the perfect French
Don't you want me, baby?

She never wears a watch
Still, she's never late
She's got that kind of grace
Did Botticelli paint her face?
She has the perfect scent
She speaks the perfect French
She can dance the night away
And, still, she'll never break a sweat
