

Never Too Late

Milow

A boy drove his car to a dead end in the dark
And he cried til the sun came calling
His sister she was young
When she jumped without a farewell
And no one ever heard her falling

I know there's no light without darkness
Heaven without hell, love without pain
When hope's gone just leave a light on
Never surrender it's never too late

A girl and her man
They were wishing for a baby
They wept when they found out
It was gonna be twins
A week before the due date
It hit them like an earthquake
Parents aren't supposed to bury their kids

I know there's no light without darkness
Heaven without hell, love without pain
When hope's gone just leave a light on
Never surrender it's never too late

When I found my dad
Lying breathless in his garden
I sat next to his body and closed his eyes
I held him so tight
Even though I barely knew him
When he died I really hugged him
For the very first time

I know there's no light without darkness
Heaven without hell, love without pain
When hope's gone just leave a light on
Never surrender it's never too late
Never surrender it's never too late
