Mini Mansions

Well, I know you like to keep your love discreet
I never had to start to get to the end
And I know you got another
Broke from all the love that you spent

And I know that you can never really see
It's getting pretty dark
'Cause I know you got a lover
Though you got no love in your heart

Don't eat
Don't even go to sleep
I need you on the weekends
Rather be unknown than dance alone

Well, I'm told you're only living when you breathe
It's getting pretty hard to cover the scent
'Cause I know you got another
Chauffeur of your never-agains

Even though you're well adjusted to the heat
It's getting pretty hot
'Cause I know you got a lover
Though you got no love in your heart

Don't eat
Don't even go to sleep
I need you on the weekends
Rather be unknown than dance alone

Should I be waiting, in the dark?
When I know you're never coming
Though you'd never break my heart
And should I wait up?
(Don't wait, I haven't gone)
Until dawn?
(And I know you miss me, baby, I won't be long)
When I'm sure you're with another
Play me until you're up and gone
Should I be sleeping?
In the wind?
And I know you're in a hurry
But we've got a love within

Well, I know you like to keep your love discreet
But you can make it hard to be your one and only love
You know you make it hard to be your one and only love

Don't eat
(I know you'll never leave)
Don't even go to sleep
(You know you make it hard to be your one and only love)
I need you on the weekends
(Well I know you'll never leave)
I'd rather be unknown than dance alone
(You know you make it hard to be your one and only)
