

I can't believe that we're finally here
Thought about you on and off through the years
Sometimes I wish
I wish it was different
We'd be together or maybe we wouldn't

We could sabotage this
So what's the point in throwing words around like forever?
I know it's not the ecstasy
Tomorrow I could wake up and love you

96 months gone by
I fucked around with you for most of the time
Could we last in the real world?
I used to doubt it but maybe we could

I feel safe in your arms
The walls come down crashing into forever
You think it's just the molly talking
Tomorrow I could wake up and love you

Where the fuck did you come from?
Did I will you into existence?
You changed my life
You changed my life
You did

It feels almost like heaven
Down in the throes with you
I don't know what tomorrow holds
But I promise that I won't hurt you