

Call the Cops

Minus the Bear

It was so simple in the end
Oh, I just had to start again
Those grays and whites, they don't forgive
Passed out, passed [?] you were so taken with

Can't stop shaking, don't think I'll ever stop
She's not waking, somebody call the cops

When you're no longer feeling good
You'll see that time slipped away
In the daylight, there isn't much
To hide the stains of your Saturday

Pink window shades, pink window shades

It was your nature in the end
No longer need to make amends
The human [?]
The silhouette to be relived

Can't stop thinking about what we lost
She's not waking, somebody call the cops

When you're no longer feeling good
You'll see that time slipped away
In the daylight, there isn't much
To hide the stains of your Saturday

Pink window shades, pink window shades

When you're no longer feeling good
You'll see that time slipped away
In the daylight, there isn't much
To hide the stains of your Saturday
