

A Glimmer Of Hope

Misery Signals

I'm not ready to say goodbye But the closer we get the more that it hurts We've already come this far Living on stolen moments
I just want to understand Take me back to the places we used to hide Where the Earth moved slowly And a glimmer of hope was enough But the gaslights all burned out You left me here to walk along a burial ground I don't blame you We all give up eventually (I don't blame you) I don't blame you We all give up Eventually
