

Chasing Dreams

Miss Fortune

We gave up our dreams in spectacular fashion.
I threw everything down the drain, so I'm asking
Where is my dignity?
I'm feeling guilty
I can't even sleep, no no.
And I just wanted you to know that
I'm crazy, but I thought maybe
If you're still up for chasing dreams
I've got some space in my backseat
And here lately, I've been thinking
And I just wanted you to know that you're the one worth changing for.
We're right back at it again.
I don't even know.
We've lost our purpose in this world,
'Cause causing pain's been the name of my game for so long that
I don't even try to explain.
And what did I think was gonna happen when the walls came crashing down?
So try to stop me, and say what you will,
But I'm through being pushed around.
And we all have struggles.
That much is clear.
We've come a long way to build something here,
'Cause you're the one that I love and respect and revere
So I'm making this clear that I'm crazy, but I thought maybe
If you're still up for chasing dreams I've got some space in my backseat
And here lately, I've been thinking
And I just wanted you to know that you're the one worth changing for.
And we all have struggles,
That much is clear.
We've come a long way to build something here.
'Cause you're the one that I love and respect and revere,
So I'm making this clear that
We gave up our dreams in spectacular fashion.
I threw everything down the drain, so I'm asking
Where is my dignity?
I'm feeling guilty
I can't even sleep, no no.
And I just wanted you to know that I'm crazy,
But I thought maybe
If you're still up for chasing dreams,
I've got some space in my backseat
And here lately, I've been thinking
And I just wanted you to know that you're the one worth changing for.