

All The Same

MisterWives

I, I take my medicine
Go for my morning walks
Listening to the kids
Rehearsing Alanis
Right down the block

I stop, at all of the houses
Manicured with roses
And I think if only these little routines
Were big enough to save me

Here we go again
Close your eyes count to ten
Feel it in creeping in
Burning right through my skin

I know I'm no good at calming myself down
But I'm caught in a loop tryna turn it around

It's strange when you're trying to change
But everything stays the same
You move away can't escape
From all the things that you hate
But everything stays the same

All the same, never changes
All the same, never changes

Spinning out, confidently filled with doubt
Can't get off of the floor
Try to pick myself up
But I keep getting stuck in this revolving door

Here we go again
Close your eyes count to ten
Feel it in creeping in
Burning right through my skin

I know I'm no good at calming myself down
But I'm caught in a loop tryna turn it around

It's strange when you're trying to change
But everything stays the same
You move away can't escape
From all the things that you hate
But everything stays the-

Same, same
Same, same

You move away can't escape
From all the things that you hate
But everything stays the same
Everything stays the-

It's strange when you're trying to change
But everything stays the same

You move away can't escape
From all the things that you hate
But everything stays the-

Same (all the same), same
Same (all the same), same

You move away can't escape
From all the things that you hate
But everything stays the same
Everything stays the-
