

Phantom Love

MitiS

I would sell my soul just to have it all back
I'd break all the mirrors I would step on every crack
Always said we'd grow old, dig our graves together
Dead serious when I said forever
Every day I tell myself this time will be the last

But then I stay up til 3 in the morning
We talk in my head 'til the memories come flooding
They rush in

Every night
I'm trying to bring us back to life
Wake me up with your touch
Give me just enough, your phantom love

Every night
I'm trying to bring us back to life
Wake me up with your touch
Give me just enough, your phantom love

Give me just enough, your phantom love

Give me just enough, your phantom love

Reading into signs cause you left me no choice
Head under the pillow while I scream into the void
Void that you left me with, a shit load of emptiness
Tell me is it real, or am I just paranoid

Cause now I stay up til 3 in the morning
We talk in my head 'til the memories come flooding
They rush in

Every night
I'm trying to bring us back to life
Wake me up with your touch
Give me just enough, your phantom love

Every night
I'm trying to bring us back to life
Wake me up with your touch
Give me just enough, your phantom love

Give me just enough, your phantom love

Give me just enough, your phantom love