

The leaves keep dancing in the breeze
It sends my world in silent motion
And as I breathe
The colors bleed, to stain the path that I have chosen

How can I rely on time?
'Cause I don't wanna wait
When I finally get that rush
I know it won't take much
Just one touch
And that'll be enough for me

Staring at the clouds of white
They keep passing through the open
And as I'm guided by the light
I realize where I am going

How can I rely on time?
'Cause I don't wanna wait
When I finally get that rush

How can I rely on time?
'Cause I don't wanna wait
When I finally get that rush
I know it won't take much
Just one touch
And that'll be enough for me