

should sleep

Moby

If you ever are the fire
I want to know that I'm here for sale, baby
If you ever are the fire
I want to know that I'm here for sale, baby

If you ever are the fire
I want to know that I'm here for sale, baby
If you ever are the fire
I want to know that I'm here for sale, baby

Sometimes we all need to start over, all over again
Sometimes we all need to start over, all over again

Sometimes it feels like the world is closing on you, yeah
And feeling like the weight on your shoulders about to break you into nothin g

Sometimes it feels like the world is closing on you
And feeling like the weight on your shoulders about to break you into nothin
g

If you ever are the fire
I want to know that I'm here for sale, baby
If you ever are the fire
I want to know that I'm here for sale, baby

All I have is yours and never forget that
You're that I have and never forget that

All I have is yours and never forget that
You're that I have and never forget that

All I have is yours and never forget that
You're that I have and never forget that

All I have is yours and never forget that
You're that I have and never forget that

If you ever are the fire
I want to know that I'm here for sale, baby
If you ever are the fire
I want to know that I'm here for sale, baby

Sometimes we all need to start over, all over again
Sometimes we all need to start over, over again

All I have is yours and never forget that
You're that I have and never forget that

All I have is yours and never forget that
You're that I have and never forget that

All I have is yours and never forget that
You're that I have and never forget that

All I have is yours and never forget that
You're that I have and never forget that