

Stuck in a town so boring
Every person inside this place is annoying
Until I met her, can't forget her
Now it's a suburban love story
She said "how does it feel up there so high above the ground?"
I said "it's really nothin babe, as long as you don't look down
..."
But if you jump, I jump, that's a promise
I would lie to my mom's face, but to you I'll be honest...
You can see in my eyes, I hate goodbyes...

I remember that night
Running through every red light
Getting older was the last thing on my mind...
Wish on every single star in the sky
Cause tonight is the night that you're mine...
I remember that night
Running under every streetlight
Me and you against the world and that's alright...
Leap of faith I just hope I can fly, but you pull my away from the edge

You were riding in my front seat
I felt like you loved me...
With your high heels on my dashboard
Almost crash my car every time I take a look, I swear you're ev erything that I could ask for...
Tell me a lie... like you won't say goodbye

These are the days, I need you stay
I made my mistakes but I'm gonna pray...
For you to be happy
I know it's been hard to watch me fall apart
But I still need your love, still need your heart...
For me to be happy

I remember that night
Running through every red light
Getting older was the last thing on my mind...
Wish on every single star in the sky
Cause tonight is the night that you're mine...
I remember that night
Running under every streetlight
Me and you against the world and that's alright...
Leap of faith I just hope I can fly, but you pull my away from the edge
