

Reality

Mod Sun

Um yeah 5:25 am on a Tuesday morning man quote
Time to write the realest shit you ever wrote
So open up and speak the realest shit you ever spoke
So impossible for most of them to ever know
The only person that you really kick it with is hope
Its not really the way you want to treat him
Your not a fighter but all you want to do is beat him
How could they understand just let that increase the flow of your pen
Let it move you like a new house, new neighborhood
Distance like the people who always said they would
I'm gone, don't save me a seat
No one else in this world its just me and this beat
Permanent feelings I will always be this way
Cause where I start and where I finish are the same place
Keep adding art to your gallery
Until your dreams are your reality

And I swore that I wouldn't waste time anymore
So much work to be done I live my goals to be scored Introductions to things I did not know before
Awards and celebrations drinks to be poured
But until then I'll pick out things I can afford
Knowing that one day I will have it all and more
Got the kind of talent that must not go ignored
I know what's coming I wish I could hit fast forward
The kind of vision that must be seen
Some takes sides or rather in the middle like intervene
The kind of person to say what I mean
So stick around for trouble I bounce like a trampoline
Keep working so when you get it you deserve it
It will be perfect this is all worth it
So don't worry about your salary
Until your dreams are your reality

All I see man are my dreams are my reality
