Seams

Modestep

Frayed, now these edges have been burned
It's the same, and it would happen to us in turn
These games we play are my main concern
Cause these edges are worn right to the bone

You always said you just be who you wanna be
Now, you see we're splitting at the seams
You always said you just be who you wanna be
You can dream and live your wildest dreams

Said we're splitting at the seams
Said we're splitting at the seams

You can call me up when you feel like hurting
You can see this anger through
You just call me up when you feel us breaking
I can bring that silence too

You can call me up when you feel like tamping
Ain't you just a perfect dream?
You can call me up when you feel like hating
But you see we're splitting at the seams

You know what I mean?
We're splitting at the seams
Waking up for this dream
We're splitting at the seams
We're splitting at the seams

You can call me up when you feel like tamping
Ain't you just a perfect dream?
You can call me up when you feel like hating
But you see we're splitting at the seams

We're splitting at the seams

You always said you just be who you wanna be
Now, you see we're splitting at the seams
You always said you just be who you wanna be
You can dream and live your wildest dreams
