Suck a Lemon

moe.

"Whoops," said the dog to the cat
"I will be right back
Don't touch my bone or touch my bowl
Because you know that heads will roll"

The cat looked back at the dog and said
"Suck a lemon, old dog, just go ahead
And then one day you'll finally see
Your beef with me is in your head"

Suck a lemon if you've never tried
Then chase the thoughts that multiply
You got bats in your belfry and a rhino hide
To protect you from the world outside
To protect you from the world outside
Dig a little ditch by the side of the road
Where the bad thoughts go
And the apples roll
To find their rest and turn to mold
Turn to mold

Suck a lemon if you've never tried
Then chase the thoughts that multiply
You got bats in your belfry and a rhino hide
To protect you from the world outside

Suck a lemon if you've never tried
Then chase the thoughts that multiply
You got bats in your belfry and a rhino hide
To protect you from the world outside
To protect you from the world outside

Rocks to gold, then dreams to dust
All things will do, as they must
Not as they're told, as you can trust
Their MO to the inner us

The reassuring hand of God
Can sometimes sting and rain down fists
Upon your muddled head, you clod, clod
Suck a lemon if you've never tried
Then chase the thoughts that multiply
You got bats in your belfry and a rhino hide
To protect you from the world outside

Suck a lemon if you've never tried
Then chase the thoughts that multiply
You got bats in your belfry and a rhino hide
To protect you from the world outside
To protect you from the world outside

Suck a lemon if you've never tried
Then chase the thoughts that multiply
You got bats in your belfry and a rhino hide
To protect you from the world outside

Suck a lemon if you've never tried

Then chase the thoughts that multiply
You got bats in your belfry and a rhino hide
To protect you from the world outside

Suck a lemon if you've never tried
Then chase the thoughts that multiply
You got bats in your belfry and a rhino hide
To protect you from the world outside
Suck a lemon if you've never tried
Then chase the thoughts that multiply
You got bats in your belfry and a rhino hide
To protect you from the world outside
