

Cortical Drill

Moist

Seeping in through marrow tissue tearing through the dermal waste parades of flesh cascading streets entrails burst their swollen face breaking through the cerebral tissue boring fragments dusting air spattered face mask eyelids focused
no precision
a botched procedure fissures of nearing death visions of climatic destitution as the brain ceases to exist discharge gathers at the peak rotary gears spraying meat viscera wreaks in heat squealing only of the drill haphazardly operating on the stump bodies covered in waste unsatiated taste
the savior of souls