

Party's Over

Moist

We crashed the car
Hold your breath I think the earth will swallowed us
And everybody breaks sometimes
I'm frozen here
Suspended by the threads up in the atmosphere
But I know that the pain is coming

Every single thing I ever wanted to say
But when I try to speak I can't make a sound now
Feel it coming down

Party's over
And the drinks are running dry
Sing your song for one more night
Party's over
It's too late to say goodbye
Raise your glasses one more time

In polaroid
You're laying out surrounded by the evergreens
Exploding glass floats through trees
And just below
The tiny pieces break apart they're shattering
And I know that the pain is coming

Every single thing I ever wanted to say
But when I try to speak I can't make a sound now
Feel it coming down

Party's over
And the drinks are running dry
Sing your song for one more night
Party's over
It's too late to say goodbye
Raise your glasses one more time

If I was real
If I could take all the hurt away
If I could lie
If we could hide
If I could take all your pain away

Every single thing I ever wanted to say
But when I try to speak I can't make a sound now
Feel it coming down

Party's over
And the drinks are running dry
Sing your song for one more night
Party's over
It's too late to say goodbye
Raise your glasses one more time

Party's over
It's too late to say goodbye
Party's over
It's too late to say goodbye

Party's over
It's too late to say goodbye
