

Falling in Love with a Memory

Monarchy

There they stood up on the frozen lake
She makes a vow to stay this very pace
To wait for his return and their embrace

Off to war to fight for righteousness
He must leave there's faith put on his strength
At their goodbye, the ice began to break, no

She waits for him while the seasons turn
The flame in her heart it will always burn
Keep falling in love falling in love with a memory

She waits for signs but they never come
Standing her ground for a millennium
Keep falling in love falling in love with a memory

And she's still standing
Still standing

Many years go by but still she stands
On this spot in bitter broken land
Nothing can be done to set her free, shadow

Now she sinks in to the depths below
Life it fades and ice surrounds her soul
Now he returns now that the battles won

She waits for him while the seasons turn
The flame in her heart it will always burn
Keep falling in love falling in love with a memory

She waits for signs but they never come
Standing her ground for a millennium
Keep falling in love falling in love with a memory

And she's still standing
Still standing

Do you know that she's getting cold
