

It Fills the Room

Mondo Cozmo

Just stay one more minute
Just stay one more minute
Just stay one more minute
Just stay one more minute

I'm writing this to you from the hospital bed
I went and lost my head again, as you presume
I believe they slipped something in my drink, but I have no proof
I'm sorry you're here in the emergency room
And I'm sorry I bled all over your shoes
The ones you bought in Jersey from that gypsy on Route 2
The Devil does not reside underground, the Devil is not frightened by sound
The Devil is the kid next to me gettin stitches in his mouth
While his dad is making promises to a God he's never found

Just stay one more minute
Just stay one more minute
Just stay one more minute
If you just stay one more day
Just stay one more minute
Just stay one more day

And my heart just bursts, and the love just goes
And it floats like a ghost into the arms of everyone I've ever loved
The long story short is I just wanted to say
Is you look beautiful in these emergency room lights and I'm happy that you came

Just stay one more minute
If you just stay one more day
Just stay one more minute
If you just stay one more day
Just stay one more minute
If you just stay one more day
Just stay one more minute
