

There Will Be Some Changes

Mondo Rock

Never in a million, million years
Have we seen what's happening now
Before our eyes and ears
(Shame) oh, shame on you
For the things you've done
The fire is burnin', there's no returnin'
To the way it was, oh no

Oh, there is an answer
But you won't be told
Till you feel some changes
Down in your soul

Our future is more certain every day
This rock we have been sheltering on
Seems to be made of clay
And time and space are shrinking
Will they disappear?
Will we recover once we discover
It's much worse than we feared, tell me

Oh, there is an answer
But you won't be told
Till you feel some changes
Down in your soul
Yeah, that fire keeps ragin'
You have lost control
There will be some changes
Down in your soul

We're standing on the crossroads now
And it's hard to tell
Which path leads to a garden
And which one goes straight to hell
Your misplaced blind faith
In our humanity
Will lead to disaster now and hereafter
If we just let it be

Oh, there is an answer
But you won't be told
Till you feel some changes
Down in your soul
Yes, that fire keeps ragin'
You have lost control
There will be some changes
Down in your soul

There will be some changes
Down in your soul
There will be some changes
Way down in your soul